DINING

Guided by sustainability, the menu is inspired by seasonal selections. With a founding principle of using locally sourced ingredients, you'll find cheese and wine makers listed right on the menu – perhaps even some artisans you've not yet tried.

It's upscale, casual dining at its best. It's fresh: Executive Chef Paul Cecconi travels the Okanagan Valley, seeking the best ingredients to delight your senses. And it's fun: a focus on local food sources translates into unique culinary creations – made just for you.

Taking advantage of living in Okanagan wine country, this epicurean experience is made complete by an extensive list of British Columbia VQA wine. In addition, guests can choose from numerous local craft beers and an assortment of spirits and cocktails.
